Questions & Answers

- Q1. Does the Region have a forecast of anticipated capital needs and associated costs or are the needs to be forecasted and identified by the successful proponent?
- A1. The potential scope of work may include a forecast of anticipated capital needs and associated costs for the Fire Service Area. This item will be discussed with the highest ranked proponent.
- Q2. Does the Region have an anticipated budget for this study?
- A2. $50,000 & GST.
- Q3. Does the Region have growth targets set out for the purposes of this study through an Official Community Plan or other planning document?
- A3. The RDN has regional does not have growth 'targets' per se, but has general projections in the Area E Official Community Plan and Regional Growth Projections available on the RDN website at <https://rdn.bc.ca/community-plans> and at

https://rdn.bc.ca/sites/default/files/inline-files/2023%20Regional%20Population%2C%20Housing%2C%20Employment%20Projections\_FINAL.pdf

Anticipated growth projections for the next 10, 20, and 50 years may need to be prepared by the successful proponent as provided in Section C of the RFSQ. These projections would utilize, in part, the above information and build-out information to be provided by the RDN.
